I. H. C. CONTINUES TO DO BUSINESS

The following is a copy of a letter circulated by the International Harvester Co., to their agents throughout Alberta, and is a direct contradiction to the statement that the farm machinery companies would pull out of the province, if the farm machinery Act became law:

"We are just in receipt of a letter from the manager of the sales department in Chicago with reference to the new implement bill No. 82, and beg to advance that no radical steps will be taken like withdrawing, from the trade in Alberta or placing our business on a cash basis which would approximately be the same thing."

"This bill has been carefully considered by the law department responsible for the company's business, and while it is vicious legislation in a way they have full confidence in the judiciary of Canada and have no fear of any confiscation of our property."

"We should however exercise a little more care in the selection of our credit particularly in the engine and threshing business as here is where we are likely to feel the effect of the legislation to the greater ext. etc."

"As far as the small line of goods is concerned, we do not believe that our business will be very much affected, and think that the courts will view the bill in a reasonable light and will not regard it as a license to the purchaser to take undue advantage of the sellers of harvest machinery."

"At anyrate we want you to go ahead just as usual and not allow this agitation to disorganize your selling arrangements."

LIBERAL GOVERNMENT A PROGRESSIVE ONE

Mr. W. F. Puffer; Liberal Candidate, Gives a General Resume of Legislation Enacted for the Improvement of Conditions in Alberta

A very attentive audience gathered in Cook's hall last Saturday evening to hear W. F. Puffer, Liberal candidate for the Lacombe constituency, give an address on the work of the past Liberal Provincial Government.

H. J. Raymer of Mirror, occupied the position of chairman, and in a short speech gave a general outline of the railroad policies pursued by the Conservative governments during the past and present in the Provincial as well as the Dominion Houses, and compared the program of the C. P. R. and its supporters in Alberta, with the excellent work performed by the Alberta government. In guaranteeing the bonds of the G. T. P. and the C. N. R., and thus opening up to the new settlers miles of new territory.

The speaker of the evening, W. F. Puffer was then introduced and for nearly two hours gave his hearers an accounting of his work in the legislature and the work of the Liberal government as a whole. In his introductory remarks, Mr. Puffer said that it was an easy matter to sit down and talk into a riding at election time and tell the people what they ought to do ; but (Mr. Puffer) was there to tell them what had already been accomplished, and any statement that he made, he was prepared to substantiate.

The Alberta and Great Waterways question was discussed at some length. From the very start there had been a gross misrepresentation of facts, and it was very doubtful that two percent of the people really understood the conditions of the contract when it was first made. Mr. Puffer gave as his authority, from the report of the Railway Commissioners, figures and facts to show that the A. & G. W. railway would have been built of the same material, and at the same cost per mile, as prevailed on all branch lines.

The settlement of the case had not been made before the House prorogued, was the late hour at which the Privy Council's decision had been received, and the wish of Premier Sifton to lay the case before the increased representation after the election.

The affairs of the province had been conducted during the past seven years, on a business-like basis. Mr. Puffer produced figures to show that Alberta had expended about $3,000,000 in that time ; Manitoba had spent $23,000,000, and Saskatchewan $20,000,000, and the cost of civil government in Manitoba and Saskatchewan averaged $6 out every $100 spent ; in Alberta the average is a shade less than three and a half per cent.

Seven years ago Alberta started without an asset ; since then $5,000,000 had been expended on public buildings ; $3,000,000 on permanent roads and bridges and $6,000,000 on telephones.

Reference was made to the Alberta Government Telephone system, which stands as a remarkable proof of the value of a public owned utility under proper supervision, operated for the people by the elected representatives of the people. It was the aim of the Liberal government to install a telephone in every house in the province, where one was desired.

The Farm Machinery Act was enacted on and the advantages to the farmer in protecting him from unscrupulous machine men, was the reason for its enactment.

During 1912 $1,400,000 had been expended in the province on roads and bridges, and the government plans to spend that amount annually for the next five years for the direct benefit of the farmers of Alberta. Mr. Puffer stated that he had been very successful in securing a good share of the grant for the roads and bridges in this constituency, and out of all the applications received by him for bridges, only four are now to be completed. These would be attended to this year. It had always been his policy to deal directly with the local improvement associations to work in conjunction with them. Applications had received his careful consideration in every case. It made not a particle of difference to him as to a man's politics, he was working in the best interests of the constituency, and if elected would continue to do so.

Mr. Puffer closed his address with an appeal to the electorate to continue, as he had done in the past, to support all legislation, which, in his opinion was advantageous to the people as a whole, and would always be guided by his own convictions, irrespective of any personal feeling.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The Provincial elections will be held on Thursday, April 17th, 1913. W. F. Puffer who is seeking re-election and has represented the Lacombe constituency for the past two terms has acquitted himself with credit. A vote for him is a vote for further development.

Owing to an ad. regarding the Liquor License Ordinance, which appears on page 8, the news space this week has been somewhat curtailed.

$15,000 VOTE ON BY-LAW

The by-law to raise $15,000 by the sale of debentures for the purpose of erecting a school house in Mirror, will be submitted to the raters of S. D. No. 400, for their ratification.

The poll will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the School house.

The By-law merits the support of all who want better school facilities. The accommodation is now over-taxed, and by the time the new school house will be ready to enter, it will require three rooms and possibly four to accommodate the scholars.

Vote for the $15,000.

A number of farmers in this district have already commenced their farm work, and a continuance of fine weather will aid operations general all through the district.

A Conservative Mass meeting is to be held Saturday evening next, (to-morrow) in Cook's hall, Mirror. Addresses will be delivered by A. Gilmore and H. F. Keeney.

The Council held their regular monthly meeting last Monday evening. The two lots on which the school house is now located were purchased. Business was light.

The "Old Timers" dance in Cook's hall last Friday evening drew a good-sized crowd and the special numbers on the program were greatly enjoyed. Alex. Mather, in true Scottish regalia, accompanied by Miss McCurdy, gave several Highland flings and schottisches ; Miss Barton, of Mirror, and Mr. Louridge, of Alix, performed in clog dances ; while Philip Tait executed several clog-dances. The dancers all performed in first-class style and it is quite possible that another contest will be held in the near future.

CONSERVATIVE MASS MEETING

Mr. A. M. Macdonald the Conservative candidate for the constituency of Lacombe addressed a large and enthusiastic gathering in Cook's Hall, on Saturday, April 6th, 1913.

The chair was taken by Geo. Robinson and the meeting called to order at 3 p.m.

J. M. Tweedie, K. C., M. P., of Calgary, and Mr. N. Carruthers, principal of Lacombe school also addressed the meeting.

The posters announcing the above meeting invited the opposition candidate to attend, but he failed to put in an appearance, much to the regret of Mr. Macdonald and the meeting in general.

Mr. Macdonald in a very able manner went into the details of the Alberta Great Waterways railway contract also the question of the Natural Resources of the province and the present financial condition of the Sifton government.

It was very gratifying to Mr. Macdonald to note the large number of supporters he had in this district and the enthusiastic manner in which they received him.

Another meeting will be held in Cook's hall, on April 13th, when everybody is invited to attend.

Later in the afternoon a Conservative association was formed and the following officers were elected :—

Hon. President, S. Michener
Hon. Vice " A. M. Macdonald
President, Har. E. Stevenson,
Vice-president, W. G. Merkley
Secretary, A. G. Suggett
Executive committee—
G. Robinson, J. Johnson, A. J. Hunt, J. D. Murdoch.

To The Electors :

TO THE ELECTORS OF LACOMBE ELECTORAL DISTRICT :

Having been nominated as a candidate to again represent the Constituency of Lacombe as a supporter of the Sifton administration, I beg to express my appreciation of the honor which I accept as an approval of the up-to-date legislation of the Provincial Government and also of the prompt and efficient manner with which they have responded whenever the requirements of the constituency have been called to their attention. If again favored with your confidence by being elected, I can only promise to do my utmost to advance your interests in the future as in the past. My intimate knowledge of every part of the riding coupled with the fact that I have been a pioneer settler and farmer has brought me in contact with actual conditions as no other experience can. As I cannot meet every elector personally in so short a time, I take this opportunity of soliciting the support of every elector on polling day.

MIRROR, ALTA., APR. 11, 1913

ALBERTA FINANCIALLY
SOUND

Despite frantic cries of opposition leaders, and the subsidized opposition press, which is not only stating that the province is ruined financially, but is taking up the cudgels of the elevator monopolies and the mining trusts against the government which has passed so much good legislation in aid of the farmers, the financial condition of Alberta is above criticism.

The actual debt of the province today is $14,160,966.93.
That is the debt of Alberta calculated down to the last cent.
There is no guesswork about it.
That is what Alberta has spent and what Alberta owes. But what has Alberta to show for that money? What are the assets of the province, and what are they valued at?

On December 31, 1912, there was actual cash in the bank to the credit of the province just $13, 134.09. That does not mean a surplus of that amount. The actual surplus is much more than that, but it happened to be the cash balance in the bank on that date. That is one asset.
Here are some others. Public buildings, $5,005,900.98. Permanent bridges, $1,301,000. Trunk roads, drainage, &c., $894,057.00.
Assistance to agriculture, loans
to creameries, &c., $203,175.08.
Live saving apparatus for coal mines, rescue stations, &c., $293,402.00. Telephone system
$81,288.36.

These are the principal assets of Alberta. They represent $13,789,901.08 of the actual debt of $14,160,966. And the telephone system is paying over 12 per cent. annually, while the lands on which the public buildings have been erected have increased in value many times over. And who can say that the assistance to agriculture
and creameries was not needed, or that money should not have been spent on rescue stations and apparatus for the benefit of the miners.

The above are actual figures of expenditures and the principal assets offsetting that expenditure. They speak for themselves, and they refute successfully the statement that Alberta is ruined. There are other assets. These just happen to be the principal ones. In addition to this the province has in round figures 6,091,427
acres of unsold school lands.
At the low valuation of $11.61
per acre, and as everyone knows this is a low valuation for land
in Alberta, roughly speaking the value of these lands is $70, 000,000, so that is future, when all that land is sold and the money is bearing interest, the educational institutions of Alberta will be self-supporting dividend paying institutions from the proceeds of their school lands. The interest of this amount will support in a proper and fitting manner, the educational institutions of the province.

And look at the record of 1912. The government estimated the revenue for 1912 at $4, 252,525.82. In that amount they included $673,423.11 which it was thought could be obtained from the Royalbank on account of interest on the money held by that bank in the case which went before the privy council.
As yet that money is unobtainable although it will be obtainable and will be used for the benefit of the province, and yet the revenue for 1912, with that amount estimated, but not available considered in the estimated revenues, was more than $600,000 more than the estimated amount. That is, the Province receives more than $600, 000 more revenue than was estimated, even after the $673, 423.11 was not available.

The Secret Marriage

By Alfred Wilson Barrett

Ward, Lock & Co., Limited
London, Melbourne & Toronto

But now the murderer begins to grow uneasy. All this has exceeded his plans with his wildest hopes. All is to be done to keep his secret. His wife, he has been dead. No mention has been made of suicide, no mention of the man's mad secret. The accusing letter. Yet the letter has existed, he had placed it himself in the safe of a girl he had known well, and when we next meet Mr. Rivington together, I think he will have something to explain to us.

CHAPTER XV

Easton, who had sometimes found the time hang heavily upon his hands since he had taken up a life of idleness, had now to bide his time.

He had not entirely stood in the way of his giving his undivided attention to his secret. He obtained some money from his bank, packed his trunk, and started for the West Coast, at Oakbank, in which place he discerned a small inn, where he could stay for a week, and where he could be found dead. What has happened to this letter? he asked himself.

What has happened to it? He has been in the confusion, the terror of the moment, he has not had time to take it away with him. There is the police.

He has been a blind and the thing he was seeking is in the hands of the police who search him. But the sign comes.

And he fears. Unseen, unknown, his secret is his. He can not stand the constant strain, he can not keep away, and he comes to this house, to all whom he can. He can not avoid. But Violette, knowing nothing of the letter, gives no sign, he can get no sign. And he is afraid. He is convinced she must know of its existence, even though it is in her possession. And even though it is in her possession.

And so he abducts her! elegant as the Major, carried away by his command.

And so, probably he abducts her, and so he comes back here yesterday to the house of the Major's wife.

For he feels that so long as it exists, and its whereabouts are unknown, it will terrify, it will terrify him. Do you see?

Neil stopped at last—exhausted with the talk, with the talk he had overheard, with the scenes he had conjured up, and looked at the Major a little tremulously.

He had been Neil's son, so the Major had been described to Neil, and he had been told that the Major had himself just ceased to witness the trials.

You must be right, said I, I feel you are. But there is one thing I do not understand. The murderer's hand left a mark on the back of the burner you have there. How is it that it did not upon the note?

It is a mark, he is empty, he said.

Look at the note, and you will see that it is a mark, he said.

Easton stared, and drew the paper quickly from his pocket. On the one side was the writing he knew and remembered, and on the other side, that his attention had been called to it, he could distinctly recognize the following words: "I am empty, I am red in a corner of the paper. And he flushed.

He was abashed, he murmured, and I never noticed that.

Why should you say?

He took it for granted that this was the Major's mark. But had you not noticed the mark, you would probably have taken it for her. It is a mark, he is empty, he said.

It was the burner the Major had first noticed.

Three Ways in Which the Ceremony May Be Impressively Performed Without Giving Offense to One's Relatives or Friends—The Importance of Tagging Gifts.

Dear Elsa—I was so astonished and pleased to hear about Dorothy's engagement. Verily, a girl is a lovely creature, and an one of the characters in a popular comic opera says about the sex, "You never find two alike any time; you never find one alike twice." Now, here's Dorothy, a lovely girl who was a maid; who probably glistened in and flaunted her independence in the eyes of every eligible male, actually having the nerve to go and annex one at a time. ## A LEGAL CURIOSITY.

Poste Title Deed That Stood the Test of Time.

A deed to the conveyance of a piece of land that is one of the greatest legal curiosities in the world was drawn up in 1881 by J. Henry Shaw, a lawyer of Beardstown, Illinois, and complies with every requirement of law and has more than once been declared by the courts of that state to be valid. The original title deed is as follows:

DO FLYING FISH FLY?

Science Thinks Not, But Many Others Say They Do.

The marine biologist who "Does Flying Fish Fly?" is dismissed by William Attingham in the Nautical Magazine. The orthodox scientific opinion is that the flying fish uses its wings to serve as a parasite to sustain the fish for a brief period in the air after he has launched himself out of the water by a powerful leap, the force of his tail.

However, Attingham, who is a nautical expert attached to the British meteorological office and in a constant state of observation, has made observations that tend to controvert this opinion. Certain observers claim that the wing fins are in constant rapid motion, and that they are used for the purpose of flight. One vessel watched a fish that had attained an altitude of twenty feet above water and was flying toward the horizon, righting his ship when, apparently noticing obstruction, it changed its course to a point directly beneath the vessel's stern to regain the water. Many other similar observations are given.

A series of cinematograph pictures might solve this question once and for all—Harriger.

I think that the wedding decisions are always difficult and dangerous at wedding times. It is understandable, rather unjustly, that an invitation to a wedding for continued friendship in the new life, so the slightly dubious, don't you think me Elsa?

But, as you say, the love of all the people, and policy and kindness can command not to make enemies. This girl I am telling you about has no objection to the sending of wedding invitations and still keep peace.

First lists only the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom and send announcement cards to friends and acquaintances. This is a large one it may be necessary to list invitations to the wedding to friends.

The best way is to have a church wedding with relatives and bridal party only at the reception.

Third, it is to have a church wedding with relatives and bridal party only at the reception.

The Turk in Constantinople, Terrible scenes were witnessed in connection with when Mohammed I captured the city of Byzantium. When the conquerors entered they slew 2,000 and made slaves of all who took refuge in the church. Some persons report the capture of the 60,000 prisoners: "Male captives were bound with cords, the females with their veils and the children with their rags. The slaves, the prostitutes with the porters of the church and young men of a plighted chaste with nuptial sheets. The slaves of love should be chosen. It takes about one and one-half sheets to make one square of the designer which is to be used in the first, the first entire surface, both under the design and between its different figures. These lines are put in lengthwise, and the next sheet is put over the first, picking up the little crosswise threads until the surface presented has the effect of blue ribbon, and when this is done it will run round in the other.

The design can now be worked out that made entirely of blocks, each block formed of a number of small squares.

OLD COVERLETS.

Ways of Reproducing Colonial Block Patterns.

The average woman of today cannot weave like the women of colonial times, says the Woman's Home Companion, but there is a method of reproducing, and that is by darning them in on buckram. Wonderful results can be secured in this way, and the designs are easy to make. They closely resemble the original pieces and have much of the character of the old ones. To make a buckram block of a coarse weave is a chore. It is twenty-five inches wide, and, like the fabric of the old coverlets, two or three inches thick. It is a good idea to give the correct width for a coverlet. It may not be possible to secure the material in the extreme width mentioned in all sections of the country, but the width of a coverlet is
